About

Highly respected and experienced leader, decision-maker, and problem solver in private and public sector roles, Ana Recio Harvey's reputation to reconstitute organizations, implement strategic plans, and increase external and internal stakeholder's trust has been demonstrated in the course of her 20+ year career as a leader and advocate for the economic empowerment and self-sufficiency of women and communities of color.

Harvey's fiscal oversight of budget lines exceeding $50 million, grant management in excess of $30 million, and personnel management in multiple locations have earned her an unimpeachable reputation for transforming missions and goals into workable strategic plans and bottom-line results. Harvey's frequent public speaking and community engagements ensure the buy-in of external stakeholders and contribute to the success of the agencies she is charged to lead.
